A. PURPOSE AND SCOPE

The Provincial Archives of Alberta Subject Headings (hereafter referred to as PAASH) was developed in 1982 in order to provide a standard indexing vocabulary to be used in the preparation of indexes for all types of archival holdings, both audio-visual and textual. The subject headings were developed by a committee of three representing the Provincial Archives of Alberta sections responsible for manuscript, government and audio-visual records. In preparing the list, the committee based its decisions on the need to index material known to be in the Archives holdings already, but also tried to anticipate needs and include headings that may be required at some future date.

Researchers must be aware that JUST BECAUSE AN ENTRY IS INCLUDED IN PAASH DOES NOT MEAN THAT THERE IS MATERIAL IN THE PROVINCIAL ARCHIVES OF ALBERTA RELATING TO THAT ENTRY OR TOPIC.

The format of the entries, and the use of subdivisions and pattern headings are explained in detail below. It is hoped that this indexing vocabulary will provide subject indexing that is meaningful and relevant to the holdings of archival institutions throughout the province.

Please note that PAASH was designed for subject analysis of archival collections. For imprint material/books the indexer should consult the Library of Congress Subject Headings.

B. REASONS FOR SUBJECT ANALYSIS

In larger institutions the collections are more extensive and become increasingly complex with diverse subject areas. Each archivist cannot be expected to remember everything in the holdings; therefore, it is necessary to have subject access. With a subject catalogue, any collection can have many access points without destroying the original order of the documents or the integrity of each collection.

C. OBJECTIVES OF SUBJECT HEADINGS

Subject headings enable a person to locate an item/collection of which the subject is known. They collect together in a catalogue what a repository has on a given subject and on related subjects.

D. STEPS IN SUBJECT ANALYSIS

1. Look over/analyse the contents of the collection/documents/tape/photograph, etc. to be indexed.
2. Select the content considered sufficiently significant to be recorded.
3. Translate it into the indexing language (i.e. PAASH).
4. Create the index (physical form).

It must always be remembered that subject, title, creator and physical form are three distinct concepts. For example, if you are indexing a wedding invitation the subject (i.e. what it is about) is not "wedding invitation." That is its physical form. The subjects are the people involved and "Weddings." While there are exceptions, always consider the content first. Generally, the researcher is looking for information about a particular subject. Although they may ask for a wedding invitation, they are probably more concerned with who was getting married. Even if they are concerned with wedding invitations in general, such items will be retrieved under the subject "Weddings."

The following questions should be asked when analysing subject content: Who is involved? What is/are the subject(s) doing? When and where are the activities taking place? What is this document or photograph or collection about?

E. RELATIONSHIP TO OTHER SUBJECT AUTHORITIES

Every effort has been made to conform to the Library of Congress Subject Headings (LCSH) and its format. However, certain deviations are necessary because LCSH was not sufficiently detailed to describe adequately material relating to Western Canada in general, and Alberta in particular. In a few cases, appropriate headings were found in Canadian Subject Headings; however CSH was, in most cases, equally inadequate for Western Canadian needs. In some cases, patterns and formats were derived from Anglo-American Cataloguing Rules (second edition) hereafter referred to as AACRII, as well as part two of Rules for Archival Description.

II. INTRODUCTION TO THE SUBJECT HEADINGS

A. SYMBOLS USED

The deviations from standard LCSH practice have been carefully documented by the use of various symbols, so that if and when the Provincial Archives of Alberta automates its indexes, or institutes a provincial network, we will be able to indicate where changes must be made to suit our needs.

SYMBOLS

The following symbols have been used to document deviations from LCSH. Indexers should note that it is not necessary to include the symbol in the indexing; the symbol has been included in the master vocabulary so that these deviations from LCSH can be documented.

1. # means that the heading differs completely from LCSH either because the PAASH committee chose to use an alternative which LCSH distinctly says not to use (e.g. PAASH used 'Blood Indians' instead of LCSH's 'Kinai Indians'), or because the PAASH committee invented a heading because LCSH contained no suitable heading (e.g. 'Travois'). The # symbol appears beside main headings such as those just mentioned.

The # also appears beside subdivisions which are used incorrectly according to LCSH usage. Such subdivisions may be invented subdivisions to cover cases where LCSH provided no alternative, or legal main headings which cannot be used as subdivisions if one were to follow strict LCSH usage. The # symbol will also appear in the list of free-floating subdivisions which can be added to main headings as specified to indicate an invented or "illegal" subheading.

2. * means that the heading used by LCSH has been truncated or otherwise adjusted to suit our needs or reduce needless repetition. The following main headings are the only ones which have been adjusted:

LCSH or AACRII

PAASH

Alberta. Department of Agriculture    Agriculture, Department of

Note: This pattern will be used for all government departments

Alberta. Legislative Assembly.    Legislative Assembly

The truncated headings will be adjusted to correct, RAD, LCSH or AACR2 format at the time of automation.

3. $ means that the heading can be used both as a main heading and as a subdivision under geographical locations only. When the $ symbol appears beside particular subdivisions under Edmonton, this means that these subdivisions are not legal subdivisions according to strict LCSH usage, but will be used as subdivisions in PAASH until we are able to automate the indexes, at which time these subdivisions can be dropped because the information will be accessible in other ways. The $ is also a signal to the indexer that the indexing entry is to be flip-flopped; for example, a photograph of the Storyland Valley Zoo would be indexed under 'Edmonton--Zoos' and under 'Zoos--Edmonton.' The $ symbol will also appear beside the main headings which have been designated as legal subdivisions under geographical locations. This is also a signal to the indexer that these main headings must be flip-flopped when used in conjunction with a geographic location.
4. + has been used beside main headings or subdivisions to indicate that the entry is a legal main heading or subdivision, but its meaning as expressed in the scope note has been adjusted or changed from that given in LCSH. For example, both 'Immunization' and 'Vaccination' are legal main headings in LCSH; however, we have decided to use the broader term 'Immunization' to cover all processes which lead to increased immunity against diseases including the use of active vaccine. Therefore, the entry 'Vaccination' will say 'See Immunization'; and the entry for 'Immunization' will have a + in front of it. The symbol is most often used to indicate that one or more aspects of a topic have been included under the most general heading, or that one heading has been arbitrarily selected to describe a number of synonymous headings (e.g., 'Docks' is used for piers and wharves as well, even though 'Piers' and 'Wharves' are legal LC headings); or when LC's meaning for a term varies significantly from commonly understood local usage (e.g., 'Bones' in PAASH refers to such things as piles of buffalo bones, and not solely to technical works on the bony structures of man and other vertebrates).

The sequence of symbols in front of headings requiring more than one symbol will be

$ +

B. EXPLANATION OF THE ENTRY

1. Main subject heading:

Any symbols which indicate deviations from LCSH practice will be to the left of the heading.

It must be noted that unless the main heading is preceded by the dollar sign symbol ($), or unless otherwise stated in the scope note, the main subject heading CANNOT be used as a subdivision under a geographic location. In other words you cannot use 'Manyberries--Indians'. Nor can subdivisions other than geographic be added to the main heading. For example you cannot use 'Horticulture--Indians'.

2. (May subdv geog)

The phrase (May subdv geog) appears after many main headings. This indicates that the main heading may be made more precise by adding geographical subdivisions in accordance with the rules set out by LCSH. For example, the phrase (May subdv geog) after the main heading 'Horticulture' means that a locality could be added, and the subject heading could read: 'Horticulture--Bawlf' or 'Horticulture--Hairy Hill'. In most cases, the local subdivision will be the name of a community in Alberta (or that portion of the North West Territories which became Alberta), and it is not necessary to indicate province (or territory if the item being indexed refers to pre-1905 events). However, if a local subdivision in another province is being added, the entry would be: 'Horticulture--Saskatchewan--Eyebrow'. If the material referred to horticulture throughout the entire country, the entry would be 'Horticulture--Canada'. If the material referred to another province as a whole, the entry would be 'Horticulture--Saskatchewan.' It is not obligatory to add any geographical subdivision to a heading coded (May subdv geog). Because of the nature of our collections, it is assumed unless otherwise specified that all material refers to some aspect of Alberta. Therefore, if the heading 'Horticulture' is used, it can be assumed that the material refers to horticulture in Alberta.

3. Scope Note

This is an explanatory statement based for the most part on LCSH terminology. In most cases, the heading was considered clear enough to not warrant a scope note. However, in some cases further information is required to define the subject heading and to clarify what can be included under the topic. If there are any questions concerning meanings of subject headings, please contact a member of the PAASH Committee.

4. References

These refer to cross-references associated with a particular heading. There are two kinds which are described in detail below.

- a. 'See' references refer the indexer or researcher from terms which cannot be used to the heading which can be used.
- b. 'See also' references refer the indexer or researcher from a legal heading to a more specific or related heading. Where appropriate, both headings should be used.

PAASH will contain the most obvious 'See' and 'See also' references; however, users are free to add as many additional such referrals as are required in each local situation. It is not necessary to inform the PAASH Committee of such additions unless it is felt that they are of general relevance.

N.B. The indexer should also go to the terms referred to in the 'See' and 'See also' references because the 'See' and 'See also' references include only the basic term and not any scope notes, subdivisions, or other information which will give further information about the heading that can be legally used.

5. Subdivisions

The use of subdivisions allows further clarification and refinement of the main headings. Main headings may be subdivided by two kinds of subdivisions: Local and Topical. Local subdivision practice has been explained in section 2 above in connection with the code (May subdv geog).

Topical subdivisions can be found in four places:

- a. Under particular main headings. The subdivisions listed under particular main headings can be used only with that main heading.
- b. On the list of subdivisions under the pattern headings listed in Section D.
- c. On the list of free-floating subdivisions. The list of "free-floating subdivisions" contains those form and topical subdivisions which may be used as required under particular subject headings, even though the headings and subdivisions are not printed in the main body of PAASH. However, it should be noted that most free-floating subdivisions have some restrictions on their application, and must be used according to the scope notes included in the list.

6. Note to indexer

This is used in those special cases where further clarification about detailed indexing practice is required. Examples of various PAASH entries are found below. The numerical labels designating the various parts of each example refer to numbers 1 through 6 in the section on EXPLANATION OF THE ENTRY immediately preceding.

C. MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION

1. Spelling: Canadian practice has been followed, e.g., Theatres, Catalogues, Labour
2. Capitalization: LCSH practise has been followed
3. Ethnic groups: Material on ethnic groups can be entered under two possible subjects, e.g., Ukrainians or Ukrainian Canadians. The name of the ethnic group by itself is to be used only for those still living in the country of origin. For those of a particular ethnic descent who have emigrated to Canada, use (e.g.) Ukrainian Canadians.
4. Abbreviations: Abbreviations will not be used. Abbreviations will be spelled out, and where deemed necessary, referral cards from the abbreviations to the full title will be added, e.g., R.C.M.P. see Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

D. PATTERN HEADINGS

Subdivision controlled by pattern headings represent a special kind of free-floating subdivision. Arbitrarily, a single subject heading is selected to represent a group of related subjects to form the pattern for subdivisions to be used. For example, every subheading found under Edmonton can be used for every city, town, village or hamlet. The pattern subheadings can be used only for like subjects, and cannot be transferred. For example, subheadings used under names of cities could not be used under names of universities, or vice versa.

Provinces	Alberta

Cities, towns, villages, hamlets	Edmonton

E. UPDATING/REVISIONS & ASSISTANCE PROCEDURES

Should anyone using PAASH require a new heading or ruling on interpretation or use of an existing heading, she/he is urged to contact Marlena Wyman, Merrily Aubrey (Chair) or Marianne Mack at the Provincial Archives of Alberta by telephone or letter. The telephone number is 427-1750 and if the requester is in one of the larger centres, that person can go through the local R.I.T.E. operator and reach the Provincial Archives of Alberta toll-free. After discussion with the requester, the decision will be made within a day. (If a particularly difficult or contentious heading is at issue, it may be referred to the provincial PAASH Committee--PAASHCom.)

Updates will be issued biennially with annual supplements if needed.

Please do not hesitate to call if questions arise or if clarification is needed. In order to make this a true province-wide system, we need everyone's participation.

Not included in PAASH name authority are the name of local personalities or societies. It will be up to each local institution to develop its own name authority files or lists of local personalities.

B. RULES

1. In most cases, the standard used is the AACRII ruling that states "Choose, as the basis of the heading for a person, the name by which he or she is commonly known. This may be the person's real name, pseudonym, title of nobility, or other appellation." For example, the proper form for Joe Clark would be 'Clark, Joe,' NOT 'Clark, Charles Joseph' or 'Clark, C.J.'. Similarly the correct form for Twelve-Foot Davis would be 'Davis, Twelve-Foot' and NOT 'Davis, H.F.'
2. However, where the name of the person is not "commonly known," the name is used in full.
3. Titles, etc.: People's titles or positions or office, terms of address, will be used only when it is necessary to give further identifying information to distinguish between identical names. For example, if there is only one George Brown, it would be entered only under 'Brown, George'; however, if there were two, the entries would be:

Brown, George, Captain
Brown, George, Sir
4. Surnames with articles, prepositions, etc.: Surnames which include a preposition or article (such as Van de Meer or de Beudrap) would be entered in the fashion most commonly used in listings in the person's language or country of residence, for example, de la Roche, Mazo. Consult AACRII (22.5D1) for further guidance.

5. Names of institutions, organizations, etc.: The place is added to the name of an institution, organization, or corporate body ONLY if it is necessary to distinguish between two or more institutions of the same name. The existing name authorities usually indicate the place name as part of the institutional name where required.

e.g.,            Alberta Hospital (Edmonton, Alta.)
                  Alberta Hospital (Ponoka, Alta.)

but e.g.,            Southern Alberta Institute of Technology
                         North Alberta Institute of Technology

Since there is only one of each, it is not necessary to add the place name to either.

B. RULES (continued)

e.g., If an archives has a collection of records of the Empire Theatre in Calgary, the main heading would be 'Empire Theatre' and the fact that it was in Calgary should be mentioned in the text of the main entry card. As well, there should be an added entry for 'Calgary--Theatres' and one for 'Theatres'.

If the archives then gets another collection of theatre records for an Empire Theatre in Edmonton, the main entry card will include the information that it is Edmonton, and the added entries will be 'Edmonton--Theatres' and 'Theatres'. The main entry would be 'Empire Theatre (Edmonton)', and the main entry for the Calgary collection would be changed to 'Empire Theatre (Calgary)'.

6. The rules of adding place names to distinguish between identical or similar names of corporate bodies can be found in AACR2, Chapter 24, Rules 24.4C1-C10.

Legislation (Name of Act as titled in the Statutes of Alberta)

Use for material directly concerning the drafting of the Act. Do not use for records relating to the implementation of the Act. For this, use subject headings related to the contents of the Act, and the name of the Act by itself, e.g., Factories Act. For federal laws use Canada. (Short title of the Act).

Legislative Building

Use as title/name only referring to the Alberta parliament building.
Title cannot be subdivided because it is not being used as a subject.
When referring to the building as a subject use "Legislative buildings". The subject "Legislative buildings" may be subdivided and is used also as the general term to describe the parliament buildings in the other provinces.
